The Sami people are a lot in nature, mindfulness is a part of meeting the earth, feeling the connection with nature and experiencing the colors, tastes and smells of the surroundings. This creates a feeling of thankfulness to the earth and nature.

We walk in the beautiful landscape, meeting the morning with open minds. Listen to the silence, make a fire and search for our inner voices.

Your guide gives you a day to see the area with new eyes, opening the door to Sami myths, stories and chants, learning about the Arctic animals and nature.
